Dear Graduates:

Now that your career at Lincoln has come to a successful close, you are undoubtedly enjoying a glow of satisfaction that comes from a feeling of accomplishment and achievement.

But what of the future? Frequently these days young people capitulate to discouragement, disillusionment, and cynicism because of the ever-present international quarrels, economic difficulties, and political corruption.

It would be a tragic mistake to start your life in the company of grim-visaged, comfortless despair. Where, therefore, shall you find courage, and where shall you seek hope?

These must be extracted from the basic ideas that have been repeatedly stressed in your studies at school.

You are living in a democracy with rights and privileges for all citizens not enjoyed by the people of any other nation in the world.

This country also extends to all of us the incomparable opportunity to achieve success in life.

And then again, we gather comfort from the progress our United States has made. History proudly records the slow but constant advance in our social conditions.

Finally, we must not forget the unparalleled prosperity our republic enjoys, which is the envy of the rest of the world.

These basic ideas—Democracy, Opportunity, Progress, and Prosperity should enable you to face the future optimistically.

Cordially yours,

GABRIEL R. MASON

Principal

The Senior Class of June 1953 dedicates this LANDMARK to the memory of

MONROE OFFNER

teacher of Chemistry, who devoted his life to the noble and selfless cause of education

ELEANOR BARRON

senior, who in her too brief career typified
Lincoln school spirit with her zeal
as Twirler and Majorette.

. . . Hello world . . . we're out of high school now and we want to rush out—all at once—adults—adjusted—ready.

We're all conquering the world in different ways . . . some of us are starting college in the fall, while others will be getting jobs. We all have our hopes geared toward Success—good—we should. Leon will be a doctor. . . . Gail, a psychologist. Jean will reform the world . . . maybe through the Salvation Army.

But before we can be anything or go anywhere in this One Wide World, we have to learn so much—Education—the word that may have only meant a 65 average till now. We have to start learning now if we haven't before and keep it up all our lives, never forgetting its importance. Learning and Education mean much more than memorizing sets of words called logic.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if all six hundred and sixty-nine of us could become part of the mature, interested, understanding world, the world that philosophers and government leaders have dreamt of? The world where no one is afraid. Where if we want to we can tour Europe, study sociology and eat caviar. Where our children won't have to grow up dreaming of atom bombs and jumping everytime a kid sets off a firecracker.

Well . . . it may seem impossible for us to achieve all this . . . we're only a fraction of a whole. Can we do anything for the world or is the word world too big for us?

What teaches people? . . .

Can we run out and scream education,

Can we get on a crowded train and
yell it to the crushed mobs,

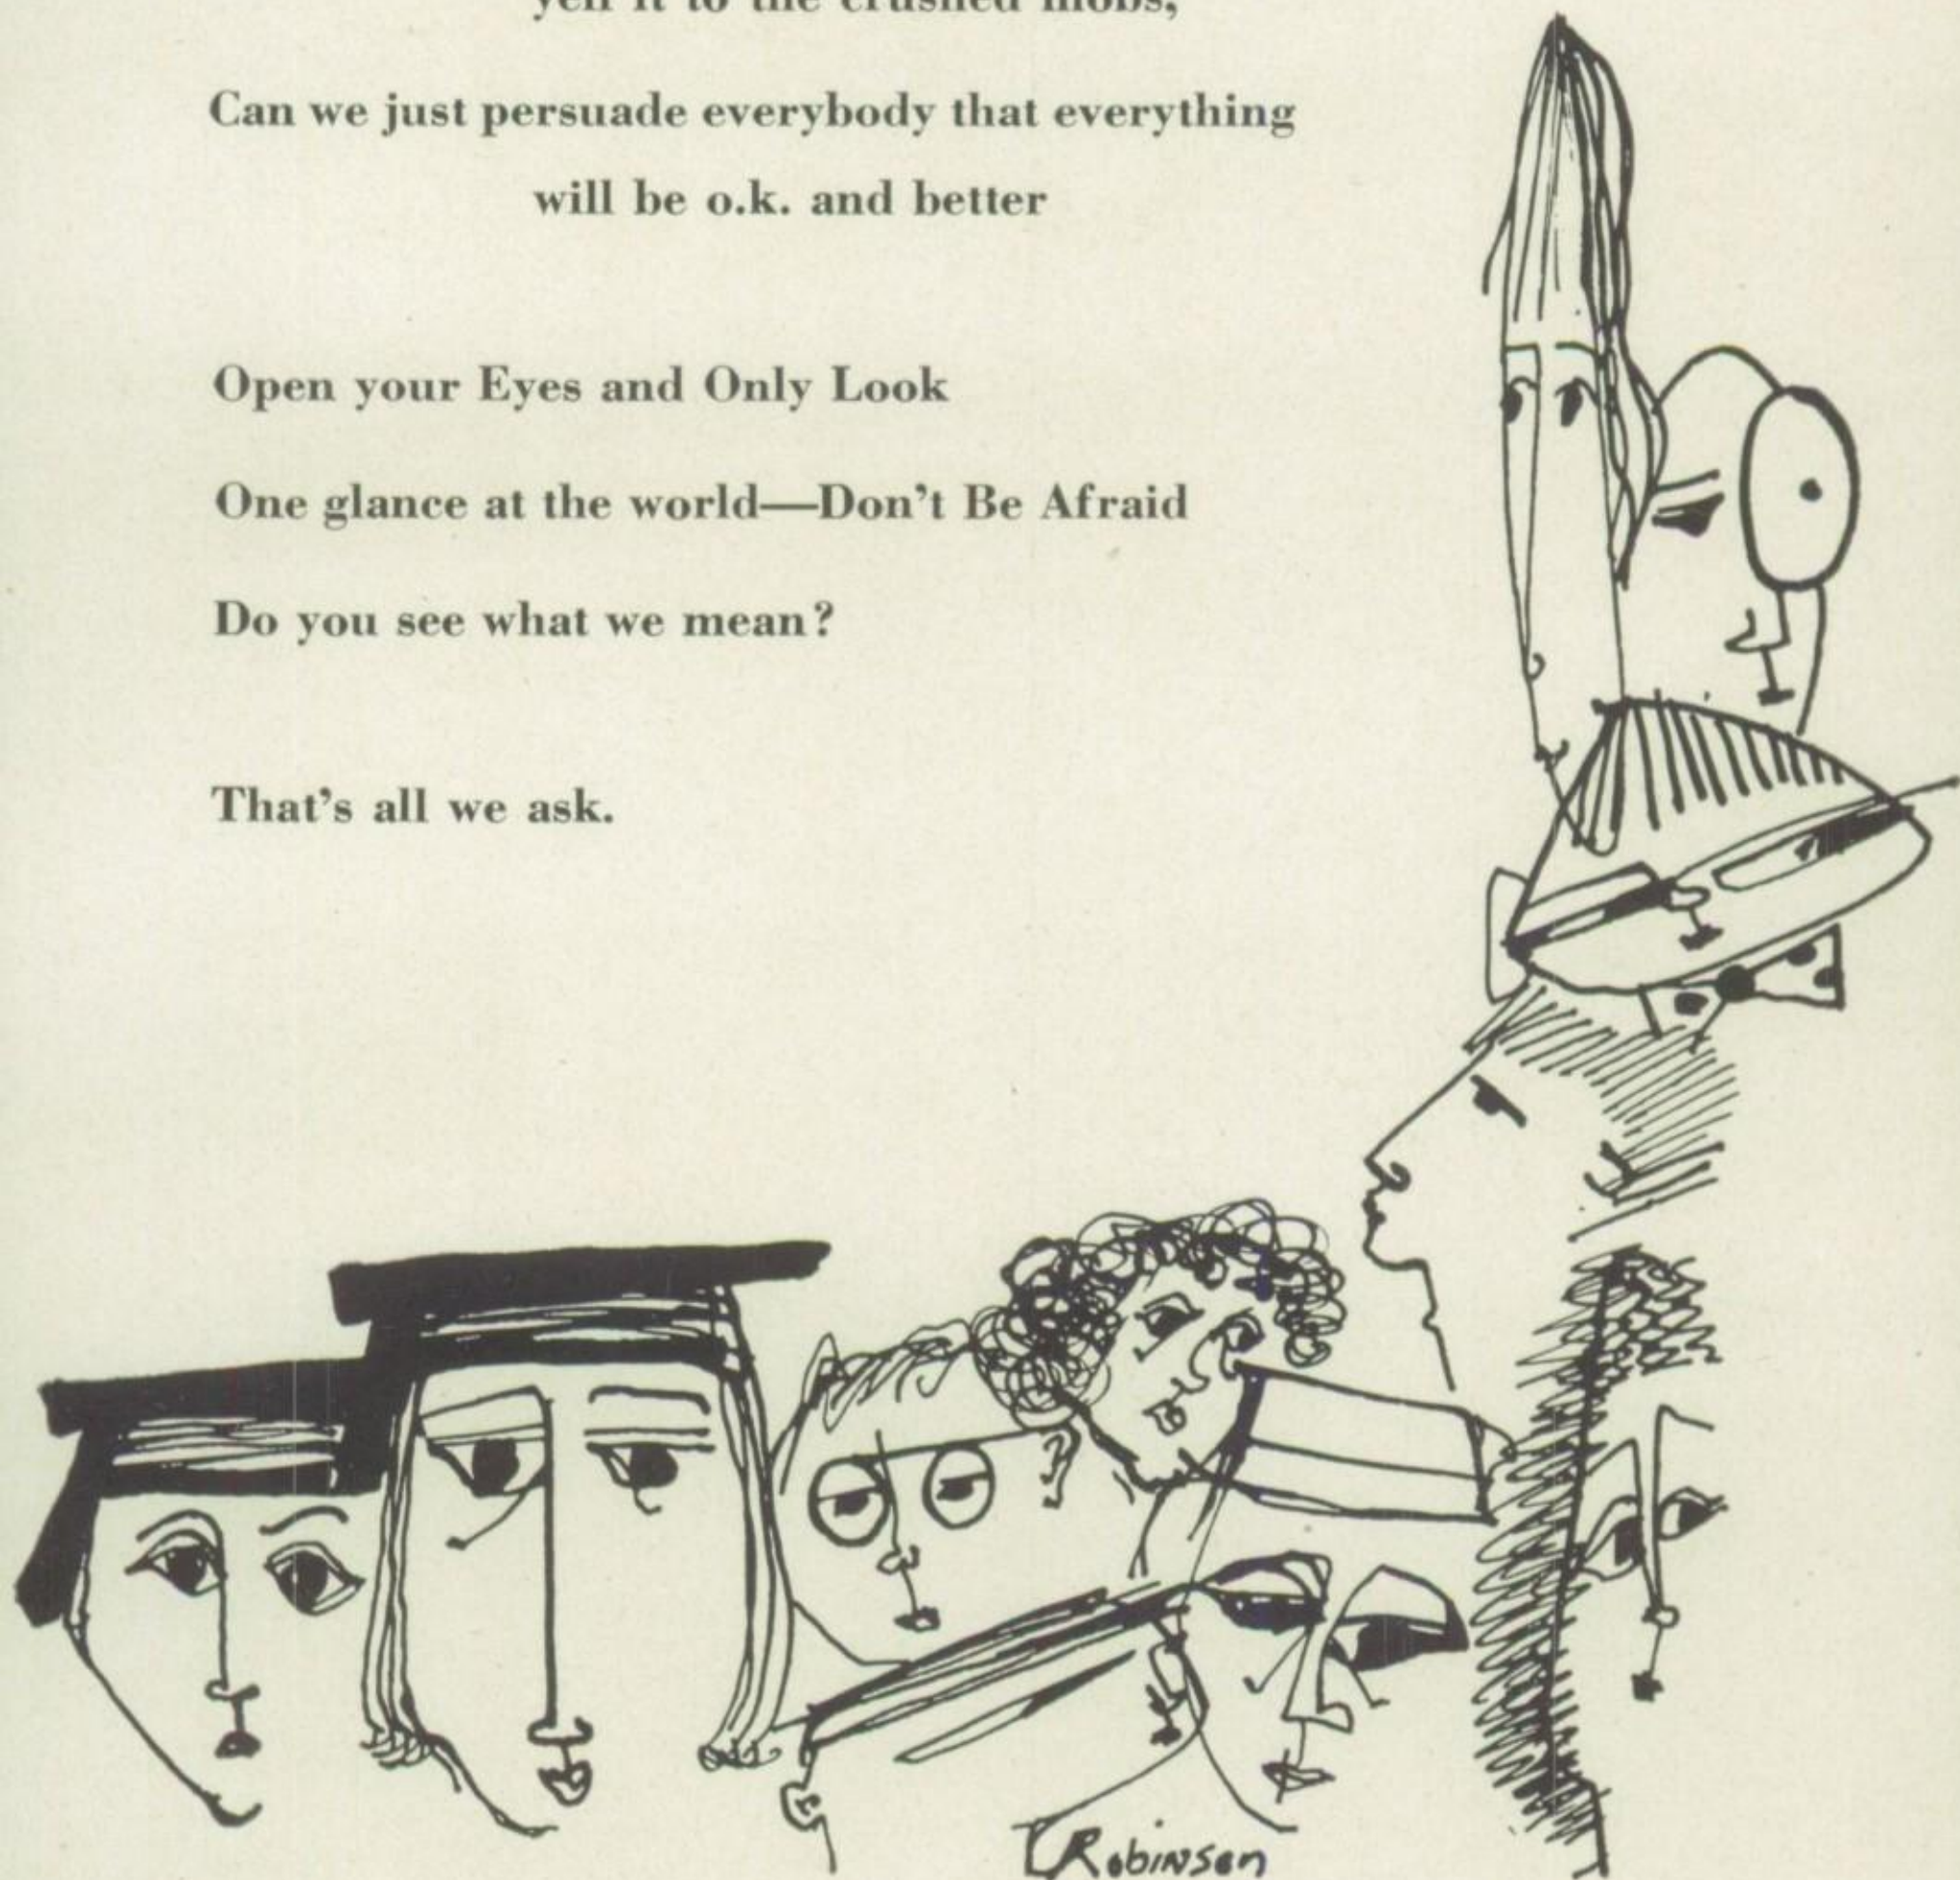

Can we just persuade everybody that everything will be o.k. and better

Open your Eyes and Only Look

One glance at the world—Don't Be Afraid

Do you see what we mean?

That's all we ask.

REMINISCENCE

by ELLIOTT SCHWARTZ

1949 . . . We were mighty young, then: freshies, wide-eyed giggling . . . elevator passes, remember? . . . Our first Varsity Show, "My Sister Eileen" . . . the basketball team at Madison Square Garden . . . the day the math teachers were strangely absent, and the hushed whispers that someone had died. We didn't get to know Henry Shanholt, but we felt that we had lost a friend just the same . . . This was the twentieth anniversary of Lincoln High School's opening. A gala issue of Cargoes was part of the big celebration . . . The world was coming down in flashes and torrents that February morning when we gave the Lincoln Award to Everret R. Clinchy. We trudged through the slush and caught a glimpse of the celebrities. Remember? . . . and suddenly the world came down in earnest: no extra-curricular activities! We indignantly left the building . . . you know the rest.

. . . It's September of 1950, now . . . the shot heard 'round the world has been fired across the thirty-eighth parallel, and the ugly, open wound is sucking us into Korea . . . somehow everything seemed strained, tense, despite the cover of gaiety we put on . . . We gave Edwin Franko Goldman the Lincoln Award . . . June, 1951 . . . our Math team steadily rolling up victories . . . into the summer Brooklyn leads the N.L. by thirteen games—and on October the third, Bobby Thomson broke a million hearts. Remember? . . . and do you remember the great roar that went up in the cafeteria a few days later when Monte Irvin stole home? (How could we forget?) . . .

Fall of 1951 . . . on a soggy, drizzle-soaked, cheerless field, Lincoln's gridsters went down to defeat, frustrated in their attempts for a PSAL title . . . the closest G.O. election race in history. One of the candidates, defeated by only one vote, installed as Lincoln's first Second-Vice-President . . . the Korean situation deepened and widened and reddened and grew redder and redder until . . . Happy New Year!

'51 was a black year, '52 will be better, we thought . . . "Idiot's Delight" was presented by the Varsity Show . . . Joseph Grossman missing from school. He never returned; it wasn't until the fall that we learned what had happened . . . sitting in the stands, listening to Algernon Black, with that irrepressible heat burning the back of our necks and creeping into our insides. It was not only the sun, but the fire of Mr. Black's language and idealism. A memorable moment . . . walking through the Lincoln War Memorial Gallery, looking at the exhibits, and pausing to reflect: we lost some wonderful boys in the big crusade of the 1940's . . . this Memorial is for them . . . They gave their lives that we might live. Remember? . . .

. . . well, here we are, September of '52. We felt pretty good . . . well, seventh termers do feel like seniors, in a way. Many of our friends were already up there, making the grade in three-and-a-half years . . . a new twist: organ music with our P.T.A. meetings . . . For the first time, Cargoes was temporarily suspended and only four issues of the Log instead of the usual five! Our literary geniuses were getting rusty . . . the Varsity Show presented "You Can't Take it With You." A smash hit . . . we were grieved at the loss of two great men, Samuel Rackowitz and Bill Kilminster . . . the gridsters collapsed, but suddenly the Lincoln basketball team became a household word . . . shock of a lifetime: when we heard that Bill Lux had passed away. We had seen him only two days before . . .

And now it's February, 1953. We're seniors! . . . astounded at our own importance. We were suddenly big, famous . . . remember first term, when the school heroes seemed god-like and far removed from ourselves? Now they were nothing more than the kids we had known for four years . . . they were one of us. Their importance made us feel bigger and better than ever . . . Senior Class, June, 1953! Watch us go! . . . not so fast. What's the big rush? Just what does the future have in store for us? We ought to know . . . in a way, we shape our own future. For four years we've been sitting on the sidelines . . . now it's our turn.

In a little while they'll be saying of us, "Do you remember?" . . .

THE PHILOSOPHER

BY JOEL ALTMAN

I told a cat the other day
he was a fool;
The Cat, he simply looked away,
And smiled.

I told a dog one sunny moon
he was a loafer;
The Dog let loose a tender croon,
And sneered.

I told a wolf yesterday morn
he was a bum;
The Wolf gave me a husky yawn,
And snarled.

I told a bear on Wednesday eve
he was a boor;
The Bear, a bore, bared all his teeth,
And spat.

I told a lion, much overjoyed
he was quite dumb;
The Lion turned, put down his Freud,
And ate me.

Last will and testament

by Penny Fox

We, the Senior Class of June, 1953, of Abraham Lincoln High School, being of confused mind (due to the State Scholarship Exams) and sound body (thanks to the Health Ed. Department) declare this document our last will and testament in order that we may dispose of certain properties which we are unable to take with us and would rather leave behind.

To Dr. Mason—we leave three thousand and some odd (very odd) students.

To Mr. Trosten—we leave him alone (at last!).

To the Juniors—we leave the honor of taking our place as Seniors.

To Albany (and all those who plan, prepare and proofread the Regents Examinations)—we leave as your theme song—"Why Were You Born?"

To the Student Body—we leave the full quota of week-ends, holidays, and other arbitrarily taken and self declared vacations from school.

To the English Dept.—we leave a "be bop" dictionary and thesaurus so that the teachers may better understand the next Senior Class.

To the Foreign Language Dept.—we leave Caesar, Monsieur Perrichon, el burro importante, etc.

To the Social Studies Dept.—we leave the balance of our subscriptions to Scholastic Magazine.

To the Mathematics Dept.—we leave behind all the squares and eternal triangles.

To the Science Dept.—we leave a lot of hot H_2O and CO_2 .

To the Health Ed. Dept.—we leave such significant documents as our medical notes, dental notes, and swimming notes (1-2-3, 1-2-3)

To the Secretarial Dept.—we leave all the typewriters that do not work and the one that does.

To the Art Dept.—we leave this hasty "brush-off".

To the Music Dept.—we leave a song in your heart.

To the Sewing & Cooking Dept.—we leave the oven on and the pins in the pin cushion.

To the G.O.—we leave a few cents to take care of our installment plan memberships.

To the Varsity Show Cast—we leave our deepest apologies to Mr. Eugene O'Neill

To the Honor Societies—we leave our 95% averages—we'll never see them again.

To the Senior Council—we leave several hundred petitions, senior hats, caps and gowns, etc.

To the School Teams—we leave the Blue and Gray unfurled upon the field.

To the Log Staff—we leave its slogans—"last month's news today" and "all the news that's fit to print in only 4 issues."

To the Cutting Squad—we leave our favorite pair of pinking shears.

To A.L.H.S.—we leave. . . .

In order to provide for executors for this will we shall allow some of our number to remain behind for an additional six months.

We, the members of the June, '53 Senior Class, do hereby sign our names in invisible ink.

Two Poems

Protected by a sheet of glass
Nirvana rested on display.
Oh, never could I pass
It by, nor turn the other way.
Nirvana's light knifed through the glass
And dug into my face;
Its warmth dashed in my bones and irked
My blood to playful chase.

Then Reason iced my fiery thoughts
And sobered up my tippling blood:
"Have you the means to hold this as
Your own? think that you ever could?"
I turned away, my fingers empty
And cold. It fluttered near me torn:
Hope's own carte blanche—its fibers rotted
By Reason's truth in acid form.

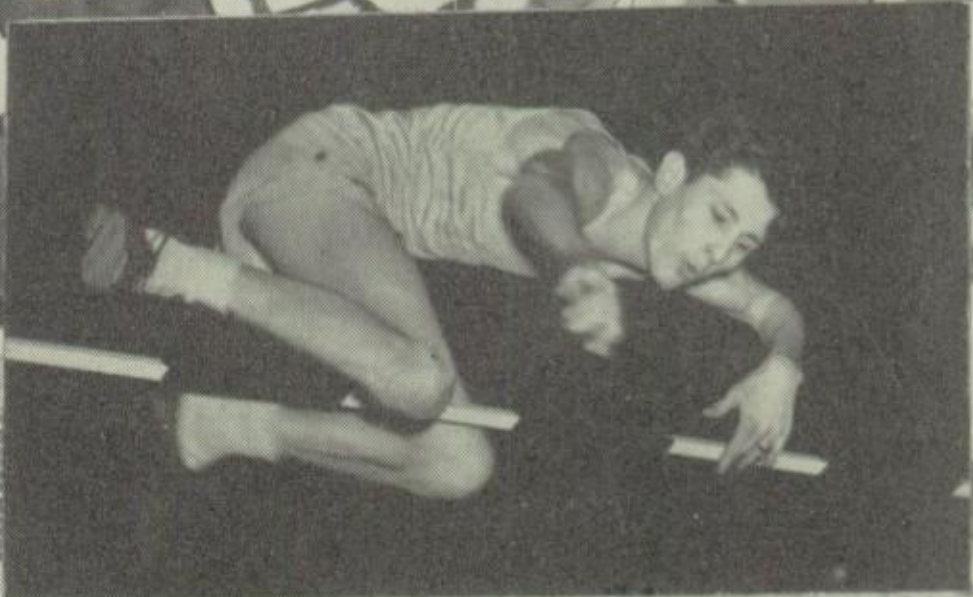

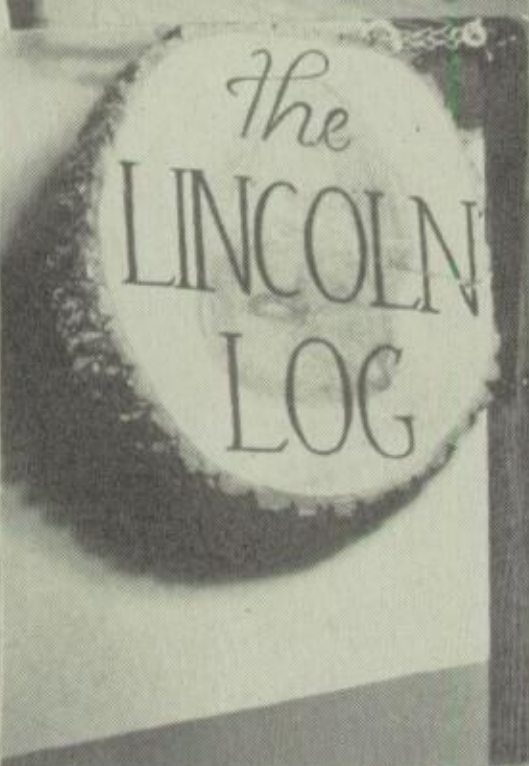

Fragment of a moment,
And only that . . .
Recorded . . . a reminder

The boardwalk pours before me,
Reaching into the core
Of the fog,
Or drawing into itself, beyond the eye,
To disappear.

The assembly belt slides forward
Beneath my feet,
Hauling unprocessed chunks
Of life.
They spread about me
Like melted marshmallow,
Easily parting as they approach.
The boards flow under my feet,
Quickly.
